

Lecturer of the Year

Description:

The Lecturer of the Year Award is given each year to recognize and emphasize excellence in teaching. This is a college-level award. There is no university counterpart.

Criteria:

1. Excellence in teaching over at least three years as supported by standard University course evaluations and letters from peers and students.
2. The inclusion of other evidence of teaching excellence in addition to course evaluations and letters from peers.
3. Responsibility for a minimum of a 12-credit annual assignment.
4. Evidence of creative teaching innovation.

Nomination Materials:

A letter of nomination from the department head or designated writer which directly addresses the criteria listed above as described in Part 1 below.

Due Date:

Nominations are due to the Humanities and Social Sciences Dean's Office by noon on Monday, November 6, 2017. Portfolios are due from the three finalists only by Friday, December 8, 2017 (see below).

Part 1: A letter of support from the department head or designee, consisting of no more than two single-spaced pages, one inch margins, 12-point TR font.

Part 2: A current C.V. and/or résumé, as appropriate, from the nominee.

Part 3: Supporting material: Additional letters of support (not to exceed ten pages)

Recognition:
