

Legacy Award

Description: The Legacy Award is given each year to recognize and emphasize a student who represents the heart and soul of the college. Students should show a commitment to the institution and their program of study, as well as demonstrate internal involvement and service, department dedication, perseverance during times of adversity, and contribution behind the scenes.

The recipient shall have participated in the following manner:

- Criteria:
1. Commitment to institution and their program of study.
 2. Internal involvement and service.
 3. Department dedication.
 4. Perseverance during times of adversity.
 5. Contribution behind the scenes.
 6. Hard worker and good work ethic.
 7. Must be a CHaSS major student.

Nomination Materials: In order to provide some uniformity to the selection process, each must contain the following materials:

1. Nomination letter from the Dean of the college.
2. Letter of support from the department head.
3. Letter of support from the faculty who nominated them (if the faculty member is the dean or department head, no additional letter is required).
4. Contact information for the nominee (phone and/or e-mail address).

Due Date: Nominations are due to the Humanities and Social Sciences Dean's Office by the November deadline. Portfolios are due from the three finalists in December. For the exact dates, visit the website: <http://chass.usu.edu/faculty-files/faculty/awards>. The nominee is responsible for assembling a strong portfolio.

Recognition: Recognized at the College Awards Ceremony. One winner will be selected to compete as the College representative for the University's Legacy Award.
