Undergraduate scholars presented their research on some of the most vital issues facing our times, from sexual assault on campus to the notorious M-13 gang. Their audience was made up of members of the Utah State Legislature.

We’re proud to say that 10 of those enthusiastic scholars are affiliated with the College of Humanities and Social Sciences. They exhibited their work at the annual Research on Capitol Hill event March 5 at the Utah State Capitol Building.

The annual event demonstrates the important research coming from undergraduates of the top two research universities in this state: Utah State University and the University of Utah.

It also demonstrates the breadth of research programs that are part of Utah State Humanities and reinforces the value of state-funded higher education.

Here are the CHaSS students presenting this year:

Daniel Bertrand, History
Mentor: Dr. Susan Cogan
Building the Medieval Trebuchet

Tori Bodine, Math and Statistics, BS in Political Science
Mentor: Dr. Jeannie Johnson
Implications of Emerging Technologies for Law Enforcement and its Impact on Public Trust

Levi Cragun, Criminal Justice
Mentor: Dr. Jason Leiker

Madison Elliott, Social Work
Mentor: Dr. Jessica Lucero
The Influence of Neighborhood Cohesion on Homelessness in Cache Valley, Utah

Taya Godfrey, Sociology
Mentor: Dr. Mehmet Soyer
Feminism in Fracking: An Analysis of Women’s Activism Regarding Hydraulic Fracturing

Cassidy Gummersall, Communication Studies
Mentor: Dr. Matthew Sanders
Between Commercial and Nonprofit: Narratives of Social Businesses

Hannah Penner, Political Science
Mentor: Dr. Jeannie Johnson
Cultural Traits of Salvadoran Gangs Offer Chance for U.S. to Weaken MS-13

Spencer Sproul, Political Science
Mentor: Briana Bowen
Fake News!: Russian Disinformation Targets Cognitive Biases in Physical and Cyber Mediums

Elizabeth Starrett, Psychology
Mentor: Dr. Jennifer Roark
The Art of Seduction: College Male Perceptions of Sexual Willingness

Casey Trout, Sociology (Environment and Society)
Mentor: Dr. Courtney Flint
Utah Wellbeing Study: Environment Insights